The Galapagos Early Childhood Climber is a haven for climbing and fun, imaginative play. It consists of a large number of square recycled plastic posts which form a mountain of blocks to climb. These blocks have beveled vertical edges for safety, but flat tops that make them easier to balance on. The structure not only has smiling tortoise decals climbing towards the top, the entire structure is actually shaped like one giant Galapagos Tortoise. The top of its shell even has two seats where children can sit with a view as they pretend to ride the tortoise all around the playground.
