There's nothing like enjoying a meal outdoors on a nice day and for that all you need is good food, good company, and a good place to sit. This 4 foot Picnic Table by Nature of Early Play is here to help fill one of those requirements with its sturdy seats and wide table width. Whether barbecuing or just a casual day out this picnic table is sure to meet your needs. This sturdy and elegant table is built out of heavy-duty recycled plastic, making it resilient to all seasons, and anything mother nature can throw at it. These lightweight materials and portable base make it easier to move from place to place than other traditional or metal tables. That way you can put multiple tables together for large gatherings, or move them out of the way whenever you need to use that space for something else.
